The Story of Joseph

Joseph has gone through many versions over the years but it started as a project for two relatively unknown men. Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice were 18 and 21 when they wrote a 15 minute show that became the basis for Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat.

They had tossed around several ideas including spies, but decided that the tale they heard from their youth would be a better fit for the show. It became a hit and launched both careers. As a team they wrote Evita, Jesus Christ Superstar and a recent version of the Wizard of Oz. Webber has gone on to work on shows like Cats, Phantom of the Opera and School of Rock. Rice has gone on to collaborate on movies and shows like The Lion King and Aida with Elton John.

Show Synopsis

This version of Joseph begins in a museum. The story of Joseph is a part of history which can often disappear into darkness. But by learning the story much can become possible. We see how the dreams, curiosity, and imagination of even one child can impact the world around them as the characters in the play come to life.

Joseph is a dreamer who was favored among his brothers, which leads them to be jealous. They decide to sell him into slavery to get him out of their lives. They tell their father that he has died. Joseph works his way up through slavery, only to be accused of an affair he did not have, and is locked up. Only a solid resolve and faith get him through his challenges.

The story of Joseph is a story of dreams. It is also a story of family and of forgiveness.

Throughout the story we see the inclusion of the children in the stories. Stories do not end when they are happening, their impact continues long past the closing lines, and the children reenacting the dreams shows that messages remain strong.

The Gypsy Robe

Not every member of the cast be the star every show. It has become a tradition that for the Mainstage shows that a non-lead member of the show that demonstrates what it means to be a Stagehawk. The dedication to the overall production, a quality attitude, and just being a consistent and well spirited member of the cast.

Five students received nominations, more details will be shared closing night along with the winner.

Stagehawks at State

Just three weeks ago the Stagehawks had a successful state Thespian conference. Asides from joining over 700 Thespians from across the state, the Stagehawks had some important accomplishments.

The 39 Steps was the first Stagehawk Mainstage at the state conference.

A Sure Thing was selected as the chapter select showcase and will be representing the state at Nationals. Congratulations to Director Hannah Wagner and her cast of Jorge Ortiz and Alexis Elge.

For the third year in a row Silverado was selected as an honor troupe.

Sabrina Galaviz was elected as a state Thespian Officer. Mikala Mikrut and Savannah Robinson have ended their terms, thank you for the hard work.

Several Stagehawks qualified for Nationals.

Sabrina Galaviz and Megan Gilbert for their Duet Scene

Megan Gilbert, Sabrina Galaviz, Mikala Mikrut, Savannah Robinson, Kori Shalmy, Alexis Elge, and Megan Harris all qualified in monologues.

Jill Mendoza and Megan Harris qualified with their original short film.

Mikala received a partial scholarship for a perfect score in monologues.

Now we need your help. Alexis, Hannah, Jorge, Megan, Megan, Sabrina, Savannah and Mikala all plan to compete /perform at the International Thespian Festival this June, joining the cast of The All-State Production of The Hunchback of Notre Dame, including fellow Michael Greene and Abraham Hunsaker. Total cost for the trip is about 1500 per student. Please join our fundraising efforts.

Our poster auctions will be split between covering the costs to produce Joseph and helping students go to Nebraska.

Our Minute to Give it will go entirely to the Nebraska fund.

Director's Note

Every year the musical turns into the most anticipated show of the season. The night we announced the show the biggest question people had was "What is Joseph?" As this process comes near the end almost a year later the answer is becoming clear. Joseph is a story of dreams and it has helped us create one of the most collaborative pieces our school has done. This is the first time that Band, Choir, Orchestra, Dance, and Theatre have all actively participated in the musical. When you include the fine arts department in helping with the production and making it a complete artifact, Joseph includes students from more disciplines and more schools than any other individual production.

A special thanks to Dr. Tracy Hunsaker, Mr. Charles Jackson and Mrs. Tiara Koch for their work on the show. They have agreed to spend time working to make this show better without any expectation of compensation and their hard work. This show is a testament to their hard work. Another thank you to Mrs. Ashley Chatham for helping direct the 50+ children in the show. Many of which were students from her school but also working with children from several different schools. This show would be nothing without the addition of so many students.

To the students. I don't get to say it enough, thank you for your hard work. Working a show this large is never easy and you all have stuck with it through the easy times and the hard times, from the techs, to the actors, to our student director, Savannah. Everything you do is appreciated, from before the first audition to the strike closing night. I hope that you all get to realize your dreams, because every day I get to realize mine, thanks to the hard work put into every show we do throughout the year.
